

A Season of Growth and Collaboration

As summer begins, we are taking a moment to reflect on the past months and the momentum they have brought.

The recent quarter has delivered many valuable insights, meaningful conversations and the start of new collaborations. It has also been a period of growth for Helprise, with new team members joining our organization and strengthening the capabilities we offer to our clients and partners.

As we look ahead, we hope the coming months bring continued opportunities for growth and collaboration, while also offering time to recharge and enjoy a well-deserved summer break.

Thank you for being part of our journey. We hope you enjoy this edition.

Helprise expands operational focus in Portugal

At Helprise, we are consistently advancing our operational strategy in Portugal - a market that continues to strengthen its position within the global business services sector.

In April, our Managing Partner, Daniel Wocial, visited Porto to meet Carlos Guimarães, Head of ABSL Portugal, Ana Costa, Deputy Director for Inward Investment, AICEP and Andre Dias, Senior Investment Manager. The discussions focused on the opportunities and challenges shaping the business services sector in Portugal, and what ultimately determines operational success in this market.

Portugal continues to stand out through its mature GBS environment, multilingual talent pool, advanced digital infrastructure, and growing international operational reach. Porto, in particular, is rapidly developing as a key business services hub, supported by a strong academic ecosystem and expanding workforce.
